Response to Arguments

1. The indicated allowability of claim 9 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to Horning. Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

a. Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Horning. Horning discloses a device being resilient and compressible and having a first planar surface (fig 1), a second surface extending at an obtuse angle to the first and sized and shaped to engage the upper thighs of a user (fig. 2; 30) and a third surface extending at an obtuse angle to the first surface and sized and shaped to contact the arms of the user (fig. 2; 25). Regarding the language “for providing resistance to the user in the performance of an abdominal crunch or crossover exercise” and “while performing a crunch or crossover exercise” has not been given patentable weight because the limitations are purely functional in nature and do not recite any structure.

Conclusion

3. Claims 6-8 are allowed. Claims 10-12 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
